THOU ART THERE

HITHER shall I go from Thy Spirit? or whither shall I flee from Thy presence?

If I ascend up into heaven, Thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, Thou art there.

If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea;

Even there shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me.

If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me.

Yea, the darkness hideth not from Thee; but the night shineth as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to Thee.

A CHALLENGING MESSAGE AND ITS OUTCOME

BY CAPTAIN ARTHUR EVANS

THE following account of an incident from The Army's past adds another testimony to the many that have been given, and which also shows to what good effect The Army's bands can herald the message of Salvation.

Through the main street of the busy port of St. John's, Newfoundland, a young man, in his early twenties, was one evening strolling aimlessly along, looking at some of the attractions displayed in the shop windows. Little did he think fore he could hope that such a rest of soul would be his.

Although brought up in a Christian home, he knew nothing of a personal experience of vital salvation. Almost before he realized what had happened his heart was crying out for God, and at that moment a desire for a better life was born within him. That desire was fully realized, when a few weeks later after returning to his home town, he was gloriously saved.

As was to be expected, the devil that was his? Here was a challenge to his faith that he must accept. He did accept and the Psalmist's testimony became his — a testimony that became to him, as the years passed, a rock of refuge in which he found shelter and strength when opposed by the foe of the soul.

Before long, opportunities came to this young man to share the newfound way. His father, a Christian worker for many years, relinquished his work because of failing eyesight. And so the son, who had seen "the heavenly vision" and "was not

Four Things You Should Know

Your Part

Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved (Acts 16:31).

REPENT (turn from your sins)

Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish (Luke 13:3).

CONFESS YOUR SIN TO JESUS

For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus (1 Timothy 2:5).

CONFESS JESUS BEFORE MEN

If thou shalt confess with thy mouth Jesus as Lord, and shalt believe in thy heart that God raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved (Romans 10:9, R.V.).

YOU NEED TO BE SAVED

Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God (John 3:3). For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God (Romans 3:23).

There is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not (Ecclesiastes 7:20).

We are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags (Isaiah 64:6).

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it? (Jeremiah 17:9).

All we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned everyone to his own way (Isaiah 56:6).

YOU CANNOT SAVE YOURSELF

Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us (Titus 3:5).

By the works of the law shall no flesh be justified (Galatians 2:16).

For whosoever shall keep the law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all (James 2:10).

There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death (Proverbs 14:12).

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me (John 14:6).

SALVATION IS NOW PROVIDED

Who (Jesus) His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree, and we, being dead to sins should live unto righteousness (1 Peter 2:24).

For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God (1 Peter 3:18).

Him (Jesus) who knew no sin He (God) made to be sin on our behalf; that we might become the righteousness of God in Him (11 Corinthians 5:21, R.V.).

For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life (John 3:16).

Do It Now!

that a greater attraction was soon to come into his life.

Arrested by the sound of music, the lad listened to one of the Army's most challenging tunes: "To the uttermost He saves." At first he was startled to think that these soldiers of the Army would put in their appearance under the adverse weather conditions prevailing at the time. It seemed strange to him. Then he heard the words of a song: "There is sweet rest in Heaven." What a contrast, he must have thought to the feeling of unrest in his soul.

The young man began to think about the selfish and sinful way in which he was spending his days. Suddenly he saw the need of a definite and thorough change be-did not loosen his grip on one who was to become a great enemy to his kingdom, without a struggle. He knew the fight was to be a desperate one.

It was in the home that the first real battle was fought and won — and won by the use of the Christian's sword, the Bible and Living Word of God. Turning to its pages for strength, he read from the Psalms: "The Lord is my light, and my salvation. The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid." How could he doubt the reality of the new light and life disobedient," followed in his father's footsteps."

Through The Salvation Army

For fifty years this worker, now well over seventy years of age and still active, has wielded an influence for God in his community. Many can look to him as their spiritual father. Today he looks back with gratitude to the moment when the challenge of the Cross was presented to him by the Salvation Army, and by bandmen who little knew what good was accomplished that day by their consecrated music.

Love's Tide

WHEN the mighty love of God enters a human heart, a great tide of cleansing thought and desire sweeps through the soul. It is a tide which flows again and again. No believing man ever goes astray until he forgets it. No believing man who has fallen will be long out of communion with God, if only he can remember it.

D. W. M. C.

June 18—Psalms 75-77

There is a warning to sinners in Psalm 75; He turns a face of wrath on all who reject Him; the greater the love which welcomes the penitent, the more awful is the rejection of that love and all it means.

Psalm 76 begins with a fourfold utterance of the greatness of God; He is great in Judah, in Israel, in Salem, and in Zion—all places that make the blood of the Jews course more freely through his veins, for in those places God had wrought wondrous victories for His people. "Vow and pay unto the Lord" (v. 11). The payment is even more than the vowing. DON'T TRIFLE WITH GOD!

"I remembered God was troubled" (77:3). Troubled by thoughts of God? Something is wrong when a man's heart condemns him. "Conscience makes cowards of us all." Even the devils fear God, but when the prodigal soul will come to Christ and pray, "Be merciful to me, a sinner," the Lord will forgive his sins, and give him a clean heart, and no longer will he be troubled with thoughts of God.

June 19—Psalms 78-80

Psalm 78 may be called the chief historical psalm in the psalter, for it is the story of Israel. More striking than the unbelief, rebellion, and sin of Israel is the boundless love of God who "WORKS IN A MYSTERIOUS WAY HIS WONDERS TO PERFORM."

Jerusalem in Psalm 79 is the city destroyed, with the temple desecrated, and dead bodies lying unburied in the streets. First comes an expression of deep sorrow for the affliction of Israel; then a remonstrance with God; and finally a plea that His anger shall now pass away.

In Psalm 80, the author, remembering the former glory of Israel, and its guidance under the hand of God, grieved over the then sad state of Israel, under the symbol of the broken vine. Remember! "Every branch that beareth not fruit, it is cut down." That is the story of the vine of God.

June 20—Psalms 81-83

It is a relief to pass from the previous sorrowful psalms to Psalm 81, which is a joyful song uttered over a feast. It summoned Israel to be glad. God will undertake for us; therefore we shall be satisfied.

We find in Psalm 82 that the condition of Israel in its own land was often troubled, disturbed, immoral, the rich unjust, the poor oppressed. Here the evil rulers who are to blame for such a state are brought into accusation; God calls them to account and an awful reckoning takes place, made known to all the world.

Rumors of attack and immediate danger of war evoke the cry, "Lord, help us!" in Psalm 83. MAY OUR TROUBLES BRING US TO GOD: then He will do "all things for us."

June 21—Psalms 84-86

"Blessed are they that dwell in Thy house" (84:4). In several ancient nations the temple was the only safe refuge in the world, where the pursuer could not follow those who sought its protection. Even kings could not touch their victim there. Birds who built their nests in temples were not permitted to be killed or driven away. Everything there was safe. This is one of the Korah Psalms, hence the beautiful allusion to the privilege of being a door-keeper in the house of the Lord, as were the sons of Korah.

"Wilt thou not revive us again; that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?" (85:6). We cannot always live at the highest point of spiritual enthusiasm, nor must we be content with low attainments; but we should maintain a fervor of love, a zealous affection, a godly yearning for personal progress, and the evangelization of others, which make up a life of delight in God and blessed service for man. IF WE LAY HOLD OF TWO POINTS—THE SINFULNESS OF SIN, AND THE WORK OF JESUS CHRIST—WE SHALL GLOW WITH THE ECSTASY OF LOVE. Only the liberated slave can know the joy of freedom.

David, in Psalm 86, gives reasons why God should hear his prayer — because there is need; because it is from one of His own; because it is persevering prayer; because it is trustful prayer; because God is good; because it is the prayer of faith; because God is the only God; because it is the prayer of humble desire; because he is his mother's son. That allusion to his mother ("Save the son of thine handmaid," v. 16) suggests that the thought of his mother's prayers have come to his mind, which doubtless brought him early to God's feet.

UNBELIEF BARS BLESSING: "Except I see....," exclaimed doubting Thomas. But his doubts and fears fled in the Saviour's presence, and he cried in deep contrition, "My Master and my God."

Painting by Frederick Shields

TO realize the necessity of a sanctified life, all that is necessary is to take a look at the first Apostolic church after Pentecost. Then study any body of Christians who ignore or reject this important truth. We Salvationists believe in sanctification, but the question is, do we really accept and enjoy this great blessing? Is the Holy Spirit the dominant factor in our lives as He was in the lives of Christ's apostles? Many are living between Easter and Pentecost. Easter means Life offered. Pentecost means Life lived to its full and with its possessor unafraid and witnessing to the Holy Way of living. How many Christian people stand hesitant between the two?

When we think of Easter, we immediately think of Jesus. He lived, He died, He rose again. But why prefer to remain at Easter? If we could only reach out and obtain the Pentecost blessing, we would again see our Army halls and churches crowded, and a harvest of souls won for Christ would result.

We see, on every hand, souls going down to hell and destruction, and we find ourselves unable to do anything about it. If the early Christians had waited to obtain the promise and not claimed it for themselves, they would have been utterly defeated. Some of us are not presenting Christ to a lost world as we should, because we are not prepared to rise up to a sanctified life. We must obtain a new touch of power if we are again to be soul-winning people. The world needs to know of the Christ, of His miracles, of His death, resurrection, and ascension and that, through His life's blood, there is the possibility of everyone obtaining forgiveness, and receiving power to be kept from committing sin. This can only be shown to the world, when the Christian and the Church are filled with the Holy Spirit. The early Christians were filled with the Holy Spirit, not just to enjoy it personally, but to be a blessing to others.

BY GOD'S GRACE

A RECENT discovery at Philadelphia is a bill-of-lading written 160 years ago by a devout businessman. It reads in part: "Shipped, by the Grace of God, in good Order and Well-condition'd, by John Jackson, in and upon the good Ship, call'd The John whereof is Master, under God, for this present Voyage, John Huxley and now riding at Anchor in the River Mersey, and, by God's Grace, bound for Philadelphia . . ." It ends ". . . and so God send the good ship to her desired Port in Safety. Amen. Dated in Liverpool, 2 August 1788."

PURITY...POWER*

A Life Cleansed by the Holy Spirit will not only be a Holy Life, but It Will Convince Others of the Possibility of Living Victoriously in a World of Sin

They were saved and sanctified to serve. Sanctification means purity of heart and power for service.

Any organization can be formed without the recognition of God, as Nations and the present United Nations, but no success can be expected without His help. If we, as Christians, are to carry out our God-given mission we must experience the sanctifying power which will meet our every need.

Do You Experience It?

How true it is that "the heart is above all things deceitful and desperately wicked" and, in the days of the prophet Jeremiah, who said "among the people of God were found wicked men" so it is to-day. We should examine ourselves whether we be in the faith or not. Before the needs of the ungodly can be met, the needs of the individual Christian must be met. We sing "Christ is the answer to my every need," but are we experiencing it?

Jesus was clear in His command to His followers that they were to wait for the promise of the Father before going into the world with the Gospel story. We see how timid and unreliable men became after Pentecost courageous and powerful days spent in the upper room were not so much for the purpose of in-filling, but for emptying and cleansing. Many to-day are not filled with the Holy Spirit, because they are not willing for God to cleanse and purify them.

Many people have a desire to possess the power (as recorded in Acts 2) but are not willing to put God first, so there still remains a desire that cannot be satisfied. When unsanctified men see themselves as God sees them, it's not the need of power that troubles them but the lack of purity of heart and obedience to God. When we see God as the Prophet Isaiah did, we cry out "Woe is me, for I am undone! I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of people of unclean lips, for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of Hosts!" Have you, reader, seen Him, in all His purity? If so, did not your soul cry out, "Create in me a clean heart, O God?"

A careless and indifferent life does not produce a holy influence on others, but a life cleansed by the power of God will not only be a holy life showing forth the power of the Holy Spirit in our lives but it will convince others of the possibility of living the victorious life. Then it is not difficult to come out from among the ungodly and be separate, and we will cease to be like the Laodicean Church, just luke-warm.

The Prophet Obadiah says, "In the day thou stoodest on the other side, thou wast even as one of them," and that is where the average professing Christian is to-day. If there were not so much adult de-nile delinquency. We sing about wanting to get the old-time power back again but, as long as we are conformed to the things of the world, we shall never get that power back. The world says, "It is all right to have sport on Sunday," and some professing Christians agree. We hear of Christians bemoaning world conditions and asking what can be done to make things better. When Christians are prepared to obey the laws of God and allow Him to govern their lives and places of worship, they will see a change, and not until then.

Paul's Testimony

Paul said, "The world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." Our Army Founder and early Salvationists had that experience. Have we got it? Paul rejoiced over having fought a good fight and kept the faith. So have many of our old Salvation Army comrades, because they knew that the power of the blood was still as efficacious as ever. Do we know that? We must do if we are to defeat the wiles of the devil.

What, then, is the source of the present day evil? Who is responsible for seeking to destroy the works of God and damn the souls of men, women and children? Only Satan and his agents. We, who have been born again, know it, and, we can overcome Satan and have power over all evil. Christ, praying for His disciples, said, "Sanctify, them, that they all may be one." One in desire; one in will; one in motive; one in God's purpose for the salvation of a lost world. If this is not what we are seeking, we will get little that is of any value. Sanctification is something more than emotion or thrills, but something to make us see the world as He sees it; to feel for it as He felt; to love and walk as He loved and walked.

We must possess such a spirit if we want to be prepared for the coming of the King. How disappointed we will be if we are not ready for Him, and we will not be if He sees that in our hearts there

TRUST ALL TO GOD

"Casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you"—1 Peter 5:7.

HAVE you turned, in your need,
to Jesus
For help in the things you do?
Are you looking to Him for comfort,
Assured that He cares for you?

Are you striving to prove you love Him—
A little more every day?
Are you trusting Him for guidance
To keep you from going astray?

Do you thank Him for every kindness
Bestowed on you, hour by hour,
And for the material blessings
That come through His love and power?

Sometimes does the path seem dreary?

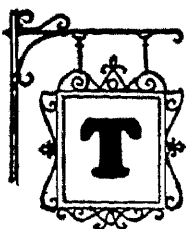

And everything, oh, so blue!
Remember He loves you dearly
And offers to see you through.

He'll give you the strength and courage
For victory every day,
With a glad and sweet assurance
To walk with you all the way.

There never was one like Jesus—
So able to understand
The heartaches and disappointments,
While leading with tender hand.

Trust all to Him now and ever;
Yes, trust! though you may not see.

He'll never forsake you—never!
Your Friend through eternity.

Field Day Activities in the Territory

FOR many years the twenty-fourth of May has been an outstanding day for the Salvation Army Youth in the Gateway City. Nor was the recent Empire Day one whit behind its predecessors. Early in the morning the Scout and Guide Units representing the seven Winnipeg corps began to gather at beautiful Assiniboine Park. Brother J. Merritt acted as marshal and quickly assigned each troop, company or pack to the space reserved.

At the blast of the whistle all stood at attention while the Divisional Commander, Brigadier R. Gage, introduced the visiting officials from the Scout and Guide organizations. Unit after unit, with colors flying swung past the flag

The Divisional Young People's Secretary, Major W. Ross, outlined the day's program. In the afternoon various intertroop and pack competitions were directed by Brother A. Murray. After supper all gathered around the platform to hear the results announced by Major Ross.

The Guide Pennant was won by the Elmwood Company while the Weston Cubs led their section. The Fort Rouge Brownies under the leadership of Candidate I. McBride captured their first pennant.

A devotional period brought the enjoyable day of comradeship to a close.

Bus loads of Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies arrived early at the Lachine Recreation Grounds for the Annual Field Day in Montreal. Following the Flag Breaking ceremony over 400 members of the respective units were inspected by the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel M. Junker. To the music of the Citadel Young People's Band (Band Leader P. Deadman) the units marched past the saluting platform where the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel Junker took the salute. Also participating in the reviewing party were Major P. Lindores of Montreal Citadel and Guide Captain M. Coke.

The call of the bugle opened the program under the direction of the Divisional Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Major F. Moulton. A feature of the day was a series of contests covering various aspects of

God's Unchanging Word

FOR feelings come and feelings go,

My warrant is the Word of God,
Naught else is worth believing.
Though all my heart should feel condemned

For want of some sweet token,
There is One greater than my heart
Whose word cannot be broken.
I'll trust in God's unchanging Word
Till soul and body sever:
For, though all things shall pass away,
His Word shall stand forever.

Martin Luther.

These Things I Need

I NEED: Courage when the best things fail me. Calm and poise when storms assail me. Common sense when things perplex me. A sense of humor when they vex me. Help when disappointment damps me. Wider vision when life cramps me. Kindness when folk need it badly. Readiness to help men gladly. And, when effort seems in vain, wisdom to begin again.

Scouting and Guiding from walking the straight line by the Brownies and First Aid by the Cubs to Fire lighting and Semaphore signalling by the Scouts and Guides.

Following supper, Lieut.-Colonel Junker announced the winners for the day. Pennants were awarded to the following:

Park Extension Guides (Leader E. Burr), Amherst Brownies (Leader M. Scallon, Park Extension Cubs B Pack (Leader B. Spackman) and Park Extension Scouts (Leader D. McNeilly.)

Hamilton Division

The Annual Field Day of the Scout and Guide Units of the Hamilton Division was held in Dundas on Tuesday, May 24. Under the direction of the Divisional Young People's Secretary, Major A. Simester, the uniformed Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies gathered in the Dundas Park where they were welcomed by Mr. Mahoney who represented the Mayor of Dundas and brought greetings to the visiting units. The inspection was conducted by the District Scout and Guide Directors, Major P. Alder and Captain I. Maddocks.

The Guelph Young People's Band led the march and the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel J. Acton took the salute.

The corps represented included, Brantford, Galt, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Dunnville, Hamilton Citadel, Wellington Street, Barton Street, Fairfield, Argyle Street, Kitchener and Dundas.

At the close of the day Lieut.-Colonel Acton presented the awards to the following units:—

Dunnville Brownies, St. Catharines Cubs, Brantford Scouts and Brantford Guides. The newest Guide Company in the Division from Argyle Citadel was in full uniform. The day closed with the singing of "Taps" and prayer offered by Major Alder.

Influence of his brother and two chums led to his conversion and he is now working for the Lord as company guard at the Park Extension Corps. Under the Holy Spirit's guidance, Ivan has offered himself for full time service in the Army and does his best to lead young people to Christ.

These thumb-nail sketches of accepted Candidates will be continued in subsequent issues of The War Cry.

Blake, on behalf of West Toronto Young People's Corps with the Toronto West Divisional Award, (an inspiring framed picture), for the highest percentage of increased ("Optionals") in connection with the first year of the "Three Year Progress Plan." Also in the group are the Corps Officer, Sr. Captain W. Poulton and Young People's Band Leader G. Hales.

COUNCIL SESSIONS AT NEW LISKEARD

YOUNG People from the surrounding corps met in New Liskeard for their annual councils under the leadership of the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier C. Knaap. Bible talks were given by Captain F. Smith, Senior Major H. Majury and Adjutant D. Church. Corps Cadets Joy Majury, Timmins, and Donald Cook, Kirkland Lake, read papers.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Brigadier Knaap gave an encouraging report of progress shown by the corps cadets of the division, and 2nd Lieutenant N. Jennings told of "Call to Officership."

Brigadier Knaap stressed the necessity of assurance of salvation and the growth and development of the spiritual life. The mellowing influence of the Holy Spirit was felt in the prayer-meeting when nineteen young people knelt at the Mercy-Seat, some seeking salvation and others a deeper experience.

LAURA M. CAMPBELL: Started attending meetings in November, 1947 and was converted several weeks later. Since then she has grown in grace and in the knowledge of her Lord and Saviour and is a sincere worker in the corps at Lethbridge. In the General's meeting at Calgary, she heard God's call to wider service and offered herself for officership. She takes every opportunity of speaking to other girls about the claims of God.

BARBARA ROSE is a graduate corps cadet of Peterborough Corps. She was dedicated in the Army and in due-time accepted Christ as her Saviour. She works hard in the corps as a songster, company guard and singing company leader. Her real desire to help others emboldens her to urge her chums to seek the Saviour.

GRACE LANG is also of Peterborough, working in the young people's corps as a company guard and singing company pianist. She was brought up in The Salvation Army and became converted in a Decision Sunday meeting at eleven years of age. Last Congress she heard the call to become an officer.

GLADYS BROOKS is a third generation Salvationist. She was dedicated in the Army and as she grew older, she realized that she could not inherit salvation from her parents. She must accept Christ for herself and this she did in 1941. In addition to working as a stenographer and bookkeeper, Gladys finds time to be a good soldier at the Barton St. Citadel and is a company guard and assistant corps cadet guardian.

GERALDINE FORDYCE is a typist and in her spare time works hard at the Winnipeg Citadel Corps as a songster and company guard. She particularly enjoys open-air meetings where she has been used by the Lord to lead others to Himself.

Graduating Exercises in Montreal and Ottawa, at which the Territorial Commander Presides

THE largest crowd of friends and relatives yet to attend graduation exercises of Catherine Booth Hospital in Montreal were present on Friday evening, May 27. Practically every seat in the spacious auditorium and balcony of Wesley United Church was occupied.

To the spirited strains of the "Montreal Citadel" March, sixteen young women entered the church and approached the platform, where a group of doctors, ministers and officers, led by Commissioner and Mrs. C. Baugh, warmly received them.

The Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel M. Junker, opened the gathering with a suitable song and Rev. N. A. McMurray led in prayer. The Commissioner was then presented to the audience by the Divisional Commander. The Territorial Leader's words of welcome to the great crowd were warm and found a ready response. "We have come to do honor to a great profession," he said. Then in a forthright manner he advocated a continuance of the lessons of discipline the graduates had practised during their training period. "The world needs to observe the practise of discipline more, if we are to get back to right living," he said. The Commissioner concluded by urging his listeners to submit themselves to the will of God.

Bush Fire Victims

A BAD bush fire was burning south and west of Baljennie, Sask., and The Salvation Army sent down a load of equipment, also a large quantity of food, which was distributed, along with coffee, to the men.

Sr. Captain L. Hanson, The Salvation Army, came to the scene in the early hours of Monday morning with a carload of coffee and sandwiches, and he deserves great credit for his work. He was right up where the hazards were the greatest and the going toughest.

report, in which he revealed that some 1,656 patients were admitted during the year just ended. No maternal deaths were recorded. The number of births reported amounted to 1,485. The doctor commended The Army's maternal work and said it ranked second in the world for volume and achievement. The growing demand for services necessitated much larger expansion of its buildings and installations. He paid tribute to the superintendent, Major I. Henderson, and her staff.

Dr. D. W. Sparling, substituting for Dr. MacIver who could not be present, led the graduates in the Florence Nightingale Pledge, after which diplomas and pins were presented to the nurses by Mrs. S. A. MacSween, president of the women's auxiliary, assisted by the Women's Social Secretary, Lieut.-Colonel P. Payton. Others assisting in the exercises were Rev. B. Berlis, Dr. P. McDermot, Dr. J. MacArthur, and Nurse L. Lockwood delivered the valedictory address.

Musical items were given by the Citadel Band, and two vocal solos by Mrs. D. Gillespie. A reception held in the church hall was crowded with well-wishers.

WITH traditional ceremony twenty-three members of the 1949 Graduating Class of Ottawa Grace Hospital received their diplomas and pins in Parkdale United Church on Monday evening, May 30. The Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel M. Junker, presented the Territorial Commander, Commissioner C. Baugh who acted as chairman to the large audience of Salvationists and friends of the graduating class.

Senator Cairine Wilson, a member of the Army's Advisory Board, gave the address to the graduates. She traced the history of nursing in Canada saying that specialized training had begun only in recent years and congratulated the graduates upon the successful completion of their training.

A Record Year

The Hospital Superintendent, Major M. Neill thanked the medical superintendent and medical and nursing staffs of the hospital for the services they had given during the past year. The annual report given by Dr. V. H. Craig showed that the past year has excelled all previous records. He stated that 2,526 patients were admitted and 2,378 births recorded.

Mrs. Cameron Edwards presented the diplomas, and the Women's Social Secretary, Lieut.-Colonel V. Payton presented the pins. Vocal solos were given by Dr. G. Pennock and prayers were offered by the Rev. N. G. Call and Rev. J. G. Anderson. The Scripture reading was given by Brigadier H. Porter.

The Florence Nightingale Pledge was led by Dr. K. E. Bellamy. In his remarks to the graduates Commissioner Baugh spoke of the value of training. "The ideal nurse knows that self-discipline is the most important aspect of all," he said.

Nurse M. Horner gave the valedictory address which was responded to by Nurse L. Barry. Then torches were lighted and members of the graduating class presented them to the new senior class. Bandmaster J. Morris led the united bands in a march.

Following the exercises the Graduates received the congratulations of their friends and relatives at a reception in the church hall.

Nurses Attend Divine Service

During the graduation week-end, the Territorial Commander conducted a meeting on Saturday evening in No. 1 Citadel. On Sunday morning the graduating class and nursing school attended Divine Service held at Parkdale United Church. The Commissioner spoke to an audience which taxed the seating capacity of the large church.

The graduating class also attended the evening meeting at the Gladstone Avenue Citadel, when the Commissioner again brought the Scripture message.

DUTCH WOMAN LEADER

FOLLOWING news of the promotion to Glory of Commissioner Johanna van de Werken, the General sent Commissioner Charles Durman this message:

"One of the Army's fine women warriors has gone to her Reward. Commissioner van de Werken's noble character, deep spirituality and the qualities she displayed in the leadership of Army forces in European and Eastern lands have given her an imperishable place in the history of the Army.

"Salvationists in Holland, I am confident, will emulate her love and labors for Christ."

THE UNIFORM SOLVED THE PROBLEM

MRS. L— was distressed beyond measure. Her girl, still in her teens, had revealed to her that she was in serious trouble. Useless to storm and rave and try to find someone on whom to throw the blame — the thing was done; what was the next step? Almost distracted, the woman put on her coat and hat and went out. As she walked the streets, scarcely knowing where to turn in her trouble, she saw a familiar blue uniform — an officer of The Salvation Army.

To the man she timidly stammered out her inquiries, but he was understanding and kind, and he directed her to the Receiving Home where, he assured her, her girl would receive a sympathetic welcome.

With a lighter heart, she made her way home, and broke the glad news to her girl that there was a haven for unfortunates in her condition. Together, they sought out the Home, were kindly received, and the mother was assured that everything necessary would be done for her daughter. Not only that, but she would be directed into the channels of right thinking and pure living, so that no future trouble would occur. The woman has never ceased talking about the Army's understanding of her case.

IN OTHER LANDS

WHAT A MISSIONARY SAW

Colorful Cameos of Many Lands

THE "gateway to the East" and the shimmering waters in the Bombay harbour I first saw on a Sunday morning, writes a Salvationist missionary journeying from Argentina to her homeland for furlough.

With the thought of a meeting in mind I eagerly left the ship and managed to telephone the manager of the Red Shield Club there. Hospitality was graciously extended and that evening I was able to participate in a meeting at the English corps.

What a thrill to hear a Salvation Army band again! The players, dark-skinned sons of India in the scarlet tunics and European officers in native dress, made a colorful congregation and the Salvation Army spirit was in evidence.

The following day some of the officers showed me a little of the social work, including a spacious hospital, efficiently managed by a Finnish Major, and fulfilling a real need in the lives of the completely destitute.

The ship on which I was traveling journeyed right up to Karachi. We were there for one day in the city where ancient and modern, east and west, are strangely mixed. Coal carts drawn by supercilious looking camels, together with modern electric trams with their variety of human cargo, made the streets somewhat bewildering to the uninitiated.

But I shall never forget our departure from Karachi. As we left in the warm golden light of sunset, on either side of our ship were boats packed with Hindus anxious to travel to India, and the docks were crowded with homeless men, women and children, victims of religious persecution. Oh, that the gospel of the peace of Christ might spread quickly throughout the world!

We journeyed on to Aden with its wells built in the time of the Pharaohs, to Port Sudan and to Port Suez, through the canal, on either side the camels and their riders, bringing to mind a host of Bible scenes and stories.

A hurried call at Port Said,

ONE OF CHINA'S YOUNG SONS, cheerful, in spite of the turbulent situation in his land. The large hat not only keeps the sun off the head of this farmer's son, but shelters him from the sudden, almost tropical, downpours of that land.

where cholera prevented our landing, then on through the Mediterranean. Glimpses of Malta and other islands made me think of the first missionary of Christ, his journeying and adventuring. We passed Gibraltar, sheltering the British Fleet, the sunny lands of the South of Spain, and then into colder climate and rougher seas. So to England.

AFRICAN MUSIC

IN the Australian War Cry Sr. Captain Edward John, of Northern Mashonaland Headquarters, Rhodesia, writes: "We are still very backward musically, as in every other way, for we are only just emerging in these parts from a very primitive life.

The Africans have a number of indigenous instruments, including a sort of Jew's harp; a trumpet made of reed and calabash, which gives the open bugle notes with a tone surprisingly like that of a soprano cornet; a tinkling instrument with many little metal tongues and a calabash sounding chamber; and, of course, the drums.

"Where the Africans have been trained to sing, they sing magnificently, and I was always thrilled with the singing of the students at

Some of our Patients

By Major (Dr.) K. C. Joseph, Evangeline Booth Leprosy Hospital, Puthencruz, South India

TO meet Joseph is inspiring; to hear his testimony is more so. He is a convert from Hinduism; but he is a better Christian than many who have been born and brought up in Christian homes. He is number twelve on our list of admissions. No male patient here breathes his last without Joseph's presence, his ministrations and prayer. Both his hands are crippled; he has only one foot which is rather a liability than an asset. But Joseph's smiling countenance will be seen in almost every meeting. True to the Word he serves the Lord with a single eye; his right one being surgically removed some years ago. Due to the paralysis of the eyelid, a not uncommon affliction in leprosy, the left eye closes only partially, and this gives him frequent eye trouble. Nevertheless one finds him reading always. He loves and knows his Bible very well.

Ratnaswamy, a Hindu boy, was a college student when leprosy began to manifest itself. A short time after coming to the institution he publicly expressed his desire to accept Christ as his personal Saviour. In a special meeting conducted by Colonel (Dr.) Noble he was enrolled under the Army flag. He serves his fellow-sufferers well as a school teacher and scout-master.

Adima (meaning "slave") now bears the name of David. He came under the care of this hospital as a small boy nine years ago. Once, at the close of a meeting, he was found with his younger brother, also a patient, kneeling at the Mercy-Seat. The other day in his testimony he said, "Had I not found Christ by coming to this place, I would have destroyed myself just like my brother, who committed suicide on account of leprosy. Now my desire is to serve Christ as long as He lends me life."

Leprosy is recognized to be a disease mainly of childhood, and in a large majority of cases is contracted before the age of fifteen. That children, separated from infected parents and who have had no contact with them, may escape the disease has been proved beyond doubt, but one who works in a leprosy hospital very often comes across cases which are only suspicious and need to be under observation. Every now and then I meet leprosy patients coming with uninfected children seeking admission. Some of them will go back with the child rather than leave it at home and be admitted themselves for treatment. Some have nobody to leave the child with. On principle we cannot admit a healthy child. To send back a child with infected parents is sometimes more dangerous than bringing him into a place with a cent per cent leprosy atmosphere. So I find myself in a strait to choose between two evils. But I hope and pray that one day some Greatheart may be touched by God and moved by His Spirit to make provision for these needy, untainted children.

Symptom-Free

Real conversions, not a few, take place among children in these institutions. Pankajakshy is a caste Hindu. She came into the hospital as a little girl. Now she is symptom free and ready to go back home. She reads the Bible, sings, prays and testifies in meetings. No doubt when she goes home, she will carry back the Christian character she acquired here.

David and his two sisters, Elizabeth and Hannah, came here with their mother, all affected with leprosy. The mother died, but the three children voluntarily desired to be dedicated under the Army flag. They took Christian names. Their testimony is an inspiration to other children and grown-ups.

Cyclone Victims Aided

RECENTLY, a terrible cyclone hit three towns in Queensland, Australia, and left a trail of death and damage in town and country. A wind raced along at more than

A GROUP OF MISSIONARIES in China who had met together in the home of the Territorial Commander, Colonel A. Ludbrook, to say goodbye to Major and Mrs. D. McIlvenny, who were farewelling for Pakistan, and also to commemorate the 25th wedding anniversary of Brigadier and Mrs. C. Eacott, Canadian officers, who are now stationed in Korea.

Rain damage added to the loss and discomfort of householders and business people, and river, creeks,

Howard Institute—a thrill that was just as real after listening to them for nine continuous years—but the village people are inclined to shout rather than sing, and the shrill voices of the women can become rather unpleasant.

Also, their range of songs is very limited, and they seem to be quite happy to sing one song or chorus over and over again. On one occasion I heard a group sitting around a fire after a big meeting, sing, "We'll journey together," at least forty times straight off, and long before they were finished I heartily wished they would be on their journey!—The Musician, Melbourne.

and streets were flooded. Railway traffic was brought almost to a standstill. Trees everywhere were stripped of their leaves, broken, or blown over, and fences and walls were flattened out.

The Salvation Army buildings at Rockhampton and Gladstone suffered only minor damage. There was no great need for instant relief distribution, for a good neighborly spirit provided for the homeless and fearful.

Salvationist homes were opened, and shelter was appreciated by many. Officers were active wherever possible to render relief and promote confidence.

THE SPIRIT OF LEPERS

"WE do not look back, we look forward!" were the words of a blind sergeant at an Army leper colony in Paraguay, when leaders from the capital city of Asuncion arrived among them—after a 1,000 mile journey which included aeroplane and ox-wagon travel.

In support of this brave declaration, all the patients who could stand—about eighty—attended an open-air meeting and nearly thirty surrendered the residue of their days to God.

ICELAND'S HERRINGS

Make a Sudden Disappearance

A MYSTERIOUS disappearance over the last four years of this country's major "money crop," the herring, is the talk of Iceland. Previously these fish used to appear annually around the north-western coast in inestimable numbers. They were like "mountains in the sea," fishermen say.

There used to be areas of many square miles where an almost solid mass of herrings extended downward to depths of 40 to 50 fathoms and actually piled up in squirming hillocks over the sea surface.

Such herring runs were "pure gold." They could be literally shovelled into the ship with nets and a full cargo obtained in a few hours. There was a good market all over the world, both for the fish themselves, and for herring oil, which accounted for essentially one-fourth of Iceland's foreign exchange.

Due To The War

Suddenly the herring disappeared. There is every reason to believe that they have moved to some other section of the North Atlantic, but Iceland scientists have been unable to obtain any clue to their whereabouts. Some say the disappearance was due to the war.

The waters about Iceland became so contaminated with oil that the fish were driven away. Others think the disappearance is due to a warmer ocean the herring being a fish with a delicate adjustment to water temperature.

Still others say the reason is the melting of the Greenland ice cap causing a layer of warm water on the sea surface and forcing the fish to go to great depths.

A large herring run occurred during the winter of 1947-48 just outside the harbor of Reykjavik, on the southern coast and local fishermen had a good year. This year, however, the fish did not reappear. They never had been seen here before.

The herring's life habits, Iceland scientists point out, are completely unknown. Nobody ever has found the breeding grounds.

A MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE

LAST summer two thirteen-year-old girls from Romford who went to Frinton, England, with a party of Girl Covenanters, a Bible class, thought it would be fun to send a bottle message.

They wrote their names and addresses and the date on the message and asked the finder to write to them. Then they securely corked the message in the bottle and threw it into the sea.

Not long ago they received a letter from Germany containing their message and a letter in his own language from a German fisherman,

The reply giving instructions for the first treatment is radioed back to the ship at the earliest opportunity. Generally it is accompanied by a request for further details concerning the illness or injury.

When an answer is received from the ship's captain, the second phase in the treatment is prescribed by the Radio Medical Centre, and so it goes on until either the case has been cured or the ship has reached a port where full medical facilities are available.

Countless difficulties of international character have been overcome by Professor Guida's insistent hard work. The war years meant six years lost in perfecting its organization.

The number of calls for help and the number of cases cured during 1948 gives some idea of the work carried out by these doctors, all of whom have their own practices and their own hospital work in addition to the calls for help that come from the sea.

During the past year 682 messages were received and dispatched by the center. Of the total of 153 cases dealt with and treated, 128 were medical cases, 12 surgical cases and 13 accidents consisting of severe cuts or broken bones.

Electricity for Cyprus

CYPRUS, the third largest island in the Mediterranean is to have an up-to-date electricity supply. The present supply, which is confined to the areas surrounding certain towns, is totally inadequate to meet the growing needs of this British colony which has a population of half a million.

Under the scheme, which has just been accepted by the Government of Cyprus, a central power station capable of generating 70,000 kilowatts is to be built at Larnaka on the southern coast. Sea-water will be used in the condensers which cool the turbo-alternators.

First results of the present plans should be evident by 1951, and so one of the greatest boons of our modern age comes to an island which, during its long history, has known the Phoenicians, Egyptians, Assyrians, Persians, and Turks.

Snakes for Hire

MOST if not all creatures serve some useful purpose, if we but knew it. Snakes are among them.

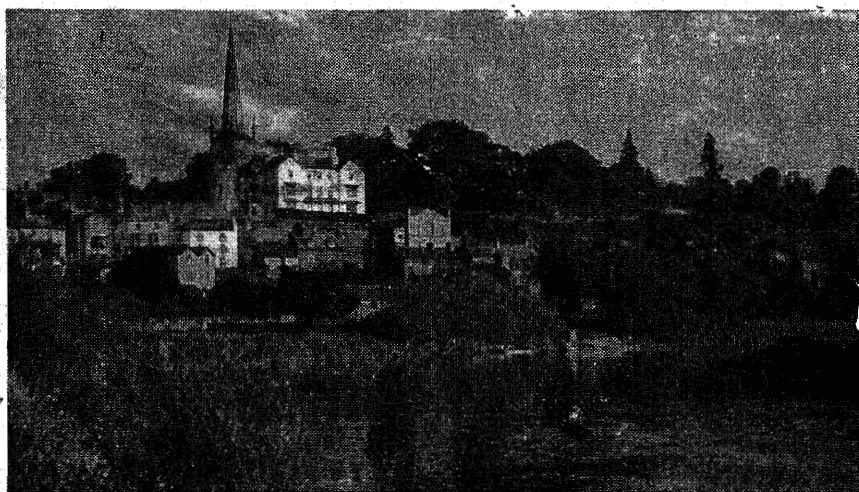

Harry Kemp, of Sydney, N.S.W., has begun a snake hiring service. For forty years past Harry has sold snakes for $4 each to catch rats in warehouses. Now he is hiring them out at so much a foot.

Harry's first snake hire was a 4-foot reptile to a big store, to be transferred later to a cake factory.

THE GENERAL IN SWITZERLAND

WITHIN a few hours of his arrival at Zurich for the opening of Switzerland's Annual Congress, General Albert Orsborn found himself surrounded by the representatives of thirteen newspapers and magazines, including the largest and most influential in the country.

They had come to the Hotel Glockenhof to question the General about the effects of social legislation on the Army's work and conditions he had observed in Eastern and European lands. For almost an hour he answered questions and discussed trends and, at the end, one of the journalists asked, "How is it, although Salvationists work so much among want and sin, we detect an atmosphere of buoyancy and joy in all you have described?" "It comes from hearts at peace with God," the General replied, taking the opportunity to speak of men's need of God and the way to find peace. Salvationists came from remote places in the Bernese, Oberland and German borders for the Congress.

The Congress Campaign began with an exciting and happy welcome to General and Mrs. A. Orsborn in the Zurich Central Hall on Wednesday. "I like to believe I belong to the world," said the General, for Salvationists from Germany, Austria, Alsace-Lorraine had journeyed to Zurich in Switzerland's Congress.

Zurich Central Band and comrades, with young people, serenaded the General and Mrs. Orsborn at 7 a.m. on the Thursday morning. So great was the crowd at the morning holiness meeting that partitions were removed to accommodate the thousands who ignored attractions of the lake, drawn by the attraction of the Cross.

Commissioner Marcelle Allemann welcomed the visitors, expressing pleasure at seeing comrades from the Swiss border. After the General's appeal to follow the will of

OUR MARK

A SERIES OF
MEDITATIONS BY MAJOR MARION
NEILL

God grant that our mark shall be that of Christians. That the essentials of Christianity, love to Christ, an increasing love of brethren, may be discernible to all who are influenced by us. If this be so, there need be no regret now, nor in the future. To the end of life's journey we shall be able to say, with John:

"Hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before Him."

THE MORNING DAWN

I love to greet the morning dawn, For God has willed it so That I may drink of His goodness wherever I may go; The birds, the flowers, green fields and trees; Are there in grand array, That I may love and feel God's power Again, another day.

THE TAXIMAN'S GRATITUDE

"Do you know where the Salvation Army Boys' Home is in Port Elizabeth?" I asked a taxi-driver. "Sure I do, Brigadier. I was a boy there for many years." So in I jumped and we were soon on the way. Arrived, this old Brigadier, I just want to see my old "carry your bag into the Home, bed again." And this he did and found yet another little chap in the very same bed. And so the good work goes on and is blessed of God. The War Cry, Cape Town.

THE TERRITORIAL COMMANDER ADDRESSES NOONDAY MEETING IN TORONTO

PRIOR to his departure for England where he will attend the Commissioners' Conference led by the General, the Territorial Commander, Commissioner Chas. Baugh, was bidden God-speed during a special noon-day prayer meeting at Territorial Headquarters.

The Chief Secretary, Colonel W. Dray, opened the gathering, tendering wishes of the assembled officers, at the same time announcing that Territorial Headquarters officers had established a new record in collecting for the Red Shield Appeal. He thanked them warmly for their co-operation.

The Commissioner replied briefly to the Chief Secretary's greetings, and later gave a Bible message based upon the appropriate words, "Show me Thy way. . . My presence shall go with thee. . . God's way, he said, was beyond human comprehension, but all would be well with those who had committed their all to Him. "May God help us to measure up to the opportunities facing us in the days to come," he said, speaking of the Army's future.

The Field Secretary, Colonel G. Best, offered prayer at the close of the meeting, and the Commissioner gave his parting benediction to the officers.

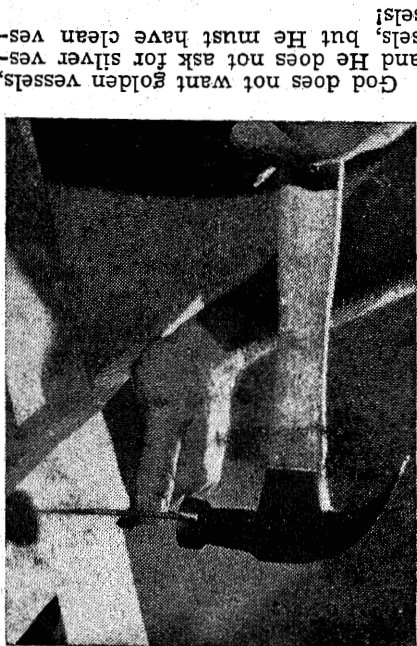

UNIQUE ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS At Nanaimo, B.C.

The page also contains the corps anniversary program, including an announcement of meetings led by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel A. Keith and Van-couver Citadel Band.

According to the souvenir anniversary folder, the Army Founder, William Booth, opened the large red brick citadel when visiting the island, January 4, 1895, and which is still in use.

A unique feature of the anniversary was a program given by the visiting band from a barge anchored off the coast, the large audience sitting in tiers on the shore. The corps officers are Captain and Mrs. L. Titcombe.

BELGIUM'S DIAMOND JUBILEE Observed During Congress Meetings at Brussels

DIAMOND Jubilee Year for The Salvation Army in Belgium made the sixtieth anniversary of Army being in that land of special importance.

On Saturday Salvationists arrived in little groups in Brussels where Commissioner I. Ogilvie, International Secretary for Europe, was announced to preside over the annual congress.

The meeting was reserved for Salvationists and at the end of this meeting several comrades knelt at the Mercy-Seat in rededication.

On Sunday Salvationists directed their footsteps to the Army hall in Brussels which was packed to the point of discomfort. Chairs were placed in the corridor and even the officers' room was filled. The Commissioner was accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Delcourt, General Secretary.

The Officer Commanding spoke of the sacrifices and persecutions endured during the years of Army warfare in this field, of the present opportunities and ever-increasing sympathy of the public, and of numerous future plans. The Commissioner urged prompt obedience to God's commands, and in the hallways closing minutes a number stepped forward in surrender.

SALVATION "NAVY"

On Monday the Commissioner presided over officers' councils. MRS. Lieut.-Commissioner A. E. Chesham, returned from Mexico, is teaming with word pictures of Salvation Army work in that Republic. One of the most significant of recent innovations in that Division was the dedication of the motor-launch "Catherine Booth," at which Mrs. Chesham officiated.

This little vessel will meet a long-felt need for some craft to convey our Gospel crusaders to the communities dotting waterways leading into the Gulf of Mexico.

STURDY VETERAN WARRIORS

COLONEL T. Scott, an early-day Canadian officer living in retirement in California, was a recent visitor at Territorial Headquarters. The Colonel, when stationed as a young officer at Lindsay, Ont., was imprisoned by the police authorities for holding open-air meetings, but lived to see the day when he visited the same cell in company with a policeman quite friendly toward The Army. Two daughters are serving in the United States, one of whom is Mrs. Colonel H. French.

Colonel Scott, who became an officer from Woodstock, Ont. with Colonel D. McAmmond, participated in the June rally of the Toronto Retired Officers League.

HELPS EVICTED FAMILY

A TORONTO paper has published a full-page head-line and photographs referring to the action of The Salvation Army at Brampton, Ont., in coming to the help of a family that was evicted from their home.

There were seven children in the family, and they and the parents were compelled to live in a tent for three days after their eviction in chilly May weather. Sr. Captain W. Shaver learned of their plight, and quickly made arrangements to assist them. He found a place where they could stay and, with a number of Brampton comrades, helped them load their furniture onto a truck provided by a Salvationist. The family is most grateful for the kindly deed.

ARMY REPRESENTATION

DURING the visit of the Prime Minister to Saint John, N.B., a reception in the Admiral Beatty Hotel was given to Mrs. St. Laurent. Mrs. Brigadier A. Dixon was present as the wife of the President of the Ministerial Association, and Mrs. Major B. Dumerton also represented The Salvation Army.

MAHARANEE VISITS HOME

HER Highness, the Maharanee of Palvanagar, wife of the Governor of Madras, has visited the Army's Women's Industrial Home in Madras. Mrs. G. P. Alexander presided over the meeting and spoke in highest terms of the Army's work among women and in the home.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Commissioner desires to acknowledge a donation of $25.00 received from the Arnprior, Ont. couple (who wish to remain anonymous) who forwarded the sum of money on the 6th anniversary of their wedding.

Due to pressure upon space, some regular features, including "For Shut-Ins," and reports, have been held over for the next issue.

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF A GREAT CANADIAN TRAGEDY

May 29, the date of the "Empress of Ireland" disaster, fell upon a Sunday this year, enabling a large crowd of Salvationists and friends to join the survivors in their annual remembrance service at the Empress Memorial, Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto. Colonel D. McAmmond, representing Pacific Coast survivors, was one of the speakers.

THE MAIL BAG

THE ARMY'S OLDEST CORPS BAND

COMMISSIONER Chas. Baugh, has received a souvenir booklet featuring the seventieth anniversary of The Army's first corps band, Consett, British Territory, and containing greetings from Army leaders in various parts of the world, including Canada's Territorial Commander. An accompanying letter from Band Secretary J. T. Hall, says in part:

"You will be pleased to learn that we enjoyed a grand week-end of fellowship and celebration led by Colonel B. Coles, who during the anniversary meetings often referred to his experiences with the bands of Canada, and to whom we send our greetings."

It will be recalled that an early-day photograph of Consett Band appeared in The War Cry some months ago. The present leader is Bandmaster W. A. Carruthers, who refers in the booklet to his band's indebtedness to the "pioneers of 1879." The Bandmaster has held that position for twenty years.

MAIL FOR KOREA

LT-COMMISSIONER H. Lord, Korea, sends the information that Army Post Office privileges have been discontinued, and the only address by which mail of all classes may be directed is:

Lt-Commissioner H. A. Lord,
The Salvation Army Territorial Headquarters,
58 Su Dai Mun, 1st. Ro,
Seoul, Korea.

This will apply to officers' personal mail as well as official mail—the name of the addressee of course should be plainly written on the outside cover.

The Commissioner further states: "We have been informed that any mail received through Army Post Office posted after June 1st, 1949, will be returned to sender, and we are anxious to avoid this."

UNCONSCIOUSLY INFLUENCED

"Dear Friends and Neighbors, I am sorry to think we are losing you from Albert Street. A year ago I came to a crossroad in my life and was greatly disturbed and unhappy, with heartache and rebellious thoughts. One day I looked out of the window where I work, read on your board, 'God's way is the best way.' 'In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths.'"

I suddenly felt steadied and peace began to creep in. When passing your Headquarters I have often read the board and felt a lift each time. Now I know again that God's peace does pass all understanding and that God's way has been the best way.

We never know who is being unconsciously influenced and I hope your messages will help others.

May God bless you all in the great work you do.

Sincerely yours,
A Well-Wisher

HISTORIC DISASTER

Thirty-Fifth Commemoration Service at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto

A MID flowering shrubs in brilliant sunshine, and with the singing of birds as a pleasant accompaniment, survivors of the Empress of Ireland held their thirty-fifth anniversary service on Sunday afternoon, May 29, at The Army's plot, Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto. The annual event falling as it did—this year on a Sunday, drew an unusually large crowd of Salvationists, friends and relatives of the victims of the great disaster. Present also were the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel W. Dray.

"The tragic happening will remain a profound mystery, until we reach the Other Shore," said Colonel G. A. Attwell in leading the gathering. The Colonel read the roll-call of the departed warriors, and recalled that there were throngs of seekers at the Mercy-Seat during the memorable funeral and memorial services.

Survivors at the Pacific Coast were represented by Colonel D. McAmmond, whose son, Dr. E. McAmmond had made it possible for his father to fly to Toronto for the occasion. The Colonel, a former Field Secretary, recalled scenes of the tragedy and reminded his comrade-Salvationists that there is "no discharge in this war" until the torch of life and service is passed to others. "The bodies of the Empress victims went down, but their spirits went up," he said.

Colonel R. Spooner, another survivor, related further incidents of the disaster, and Mrs. G. Martyn (daughter of Bandmaster E. Hangan, leader of the ill-fated Canadian Staff Band) laid a wreath at the Memorial (designed by Colonel G. Miller, promoted to Glory earlier in the year). The Training College Cadets sang a meditation, and Earlscourt Citadel Band (Bandmaster W. Mason) rendered the selection "Atonement" (played by the Staff Band at their farewell meeting in the Temple).

Taking part also during the afternoon were Brigadier E. Green, who read messages, Colonel G. Peacock, Brigadier G. Wilson, Major C. Everitt, Songster Mrs. Whitehead, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Greenaway.

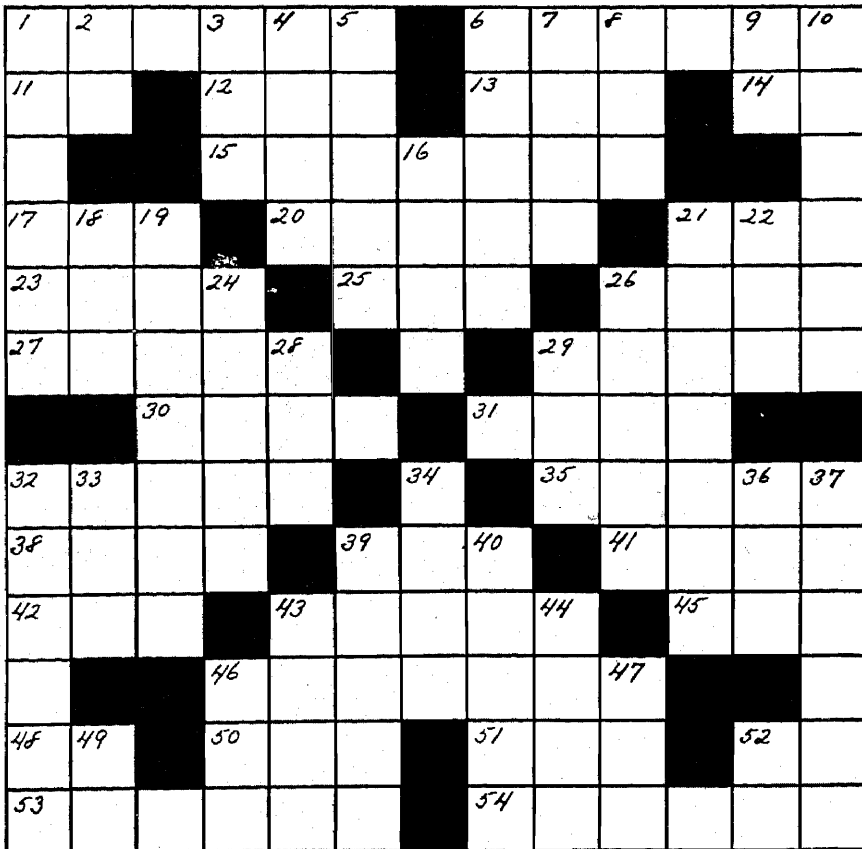

types Braille, and which was published on the Magazine Page a few weeks ago. The librarian is keenly interested in the device, and did not know any such thing was extant.

He was given the address of the firm that supplied the photograph and intends to institute inquiries that, it is hoped, will bring this clever invention to the aid of Canadian blind folks.

APPROPRIATE TO FATHER'S DAY (June 19) is this smiling group of Danforth Citadel Bandsmen-dads and their children. The happy thought of having them taken thus emanated from Bandmaster J. Robbins.

Have You Remembered The Salvation Army in Your Will?

SINCE the year 1865 The Salvation Army has demonstrated its effectiveness in dealing with human problems, distress and maladjustments, through its varied and highly organized network of character-building activities.

The Salvation Army is legally competent to accept bequests. Upon request, information or advice will be furnished by:

THESE notes are presented week by week to give the readers an idea of what is transpiring in this interesting section of the women's world. Part of the idea is that leaguers may see and note, and perhaps be encouraged to try out some of the successful methods for the Kingdom used by others.

Many of the most interesting and successful Home League items, however, bloom unheeded by publicity, and on occasion find their way into print by accident. One of those methods is that of the quarterly report, completed by the Activities for Home League week have reached a new "high." Park Extension (Montreal) reports a district rally at Rosemount Corps, when Maisonneuve, Park Extension and Amherst Part united, a meeting led by Mrs. Brigadier J. Ellsworth (R) and a program, social and sale on another evening.

Mrs. Major K. Gill, of Triton, writes, "In our eight-day campaign eleven seekers sought forgiveness, some of them, for the first time, were led to the Mercy-Seat by our leaguers. We are hoping that some of them will become soldiers."

league secretary at each corps. The following items are taken from a few such reports which have recently been received. It is urged that each league should have a good correspondent. For instance, the Southampton, Bermuda League visited the Packwood Old Folks not long ago and had a meeting with the inmates. A solo was sung by one of the inmates who is over ninety years of age. Fruit and vegetables were given to the home by the league. It is also noted that Somerset, Bermuda has increased membership by approximately forty percent in the last quarter.

Mrs. Sr. Major G. Hartas, the Divisional Secretary has taken special interest in the Hamilton League.

Newfoundland's Record

Newfoundland reports that there are 2,657 members in the ninety-six Leagues and eight outposts in Canada's newest province. The most recent outpost has been opened at Reddickton, connected with Portland, from Musgravetown Corps. Young Women's Auxiliary combinations have been formed at Doting Cove and Humbermouth. In Newfoundland the league has a big annual job on its hands in providing for the large anniversary banquets held. Proceeds from the banquets go a long way in helping with the corps finance and, in many places, nearly everyone in town buys a ticket and attends the banquet. The Campbellton report states: "Made a surprise party to an aged widow, had lunch and a short, but impressive, prayer meeting."

From Garnish we read, "A recent sale brought in a goodly sum, which was donated to the newly-formed band. A spiritual meeting was held, and many members gathered around the family altar and rededicated themselves to God's service."

King's Point, Green Bay says: "Great interest was maintained throughout the winter months. We are pleased to report five new members and one outer circle member. Our annual sale of work was held, and the sum of $102 was raised. This is a vast amount for this tiny little settlement. All money raised will go to pay for a new quarters."

Little Heart's Ease (what a nice name) also held a sale towards new flooring for the citadel. During the league's quarterly public meeting one member came to the Penitent-Form. She is now a recruit for enrolment.

Made From Sacks

Here is another sample of endeavor from Seal Cove, F.B. Leaguers have had a sale, consisting of fifty beautiful articles made from flour sacks, all finished with beautiful embroidery. The money raised will go towards building and furnishing a new quarters. Every old person in the community has been visited by leaguers, and a cottage meeting held. Collections are taken up from members, and parcels of fruit bought and taken to the sick. Two new members have been added and a parcel sent to Germany.

THROUGH THE BIBLE

June 22—Psalms 87-91

"Glorious things are spoken of thee, O city of God!" (82:3). God Himself has chosen Zion whence His influence was to go forth to the ends of the earth.

"The land of forgetfulness" (88:12). Ancient mythology has a fabled river, Lethe, and whoever drank of that river instantly forgot everything. Men long for oblivion; they sigh for forgetfulness. We can live so as to be forgotten; and we usually are if we do things which we long to forget. But through Christ our sins can be blotted out, to be remembered no more; that is sure forgetfulness.

Psalms 89 discerns the covenant blessings of God; Mercy and faithfulness.

"SO TEACH US TO NUMBER OUR DAYS THAT WE MAY APPLY OUR HEARTS UNTO WISDOM" (90:12). Life is short at best, hardly more than "three score years and ten." Life is what we make it; we get out of life just what we put into it.

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most high shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (91:1). God "delivers;" He "covers;" He "shields;" He is our Ark of Safety.

June 23—Psalms 92-94

Psalms 92 is a morning dedication which rings with thanksgiving to God. The psalmist is glad with a joy that cannot be silent therefore, he must sing.

Psalms 93 is the first of eight royal psalms which have to do with King Jehovah. The Old Testament tells us of the King; the New Testament tells us of His Kingdom. This psalm is the proclamation of the King, and asserts His rank, origin, power and glory. "HOLINESS BE-COMETH THINE HOUSE."

Psalms 94 deals with the King's enemies.

June 24—Psalms 95-96

Since the fourth century Psalm 95 has been used in the church prayer books. Another striking thing is that there are few passages in the Scriptures where the Holy Ghost speaks in the first person. In Heb. 3:7-11, the writer of the epistle quotes this ninety-fifth psalm, introducing his quotation with the words, "As the Holy Ghost saith," where the Holy Ghost applies to Himself the words used in the psalm, "Your fathers tempted Me," "I was grieved," "I swore in My wrath." Let us then read and hear the words of the Holy Ghost!

Psalms 96 sets forth clearly the duty of making Jehovah King known to all the nations; it is a missionary psalm.

LESSONS FROM A LITTLE GIRL

Who Loved to Imitate Her Elders

SOME time ago a little maid came to stay with us. She was a busy little child, and liked to do the things the Housewife did. On wash day the doll's clothes must be washed, too, and pegged out on a tiny line, just placed high enough for so small a maid.

If it happened to be sweeping and dusting time, there was the small broom and mop, used most industriously. If the Housewife placed fresh flowers in the sitting-room and hall, there must surely be found a small vase, suitable for a little lady's bedroom. A tight little bundle of flowers were very decorative in the eyes of this small imitator.

The greatest delight, however, came when the Housewife was baking. A chair must be placed in such a position so that small hands and a very dainty little form, could reach the cooking bench in comfort. The incessant prattle! Why were eggs beaten, and could she break one? Why was pastry rolled this way and that? Why did the Housewife grease the tins? So many questions.

A nuisance? Why certainly not! She is so sweet and dear that she could not be a nuisance however many questions were asked. Presently, the busy Housewife settled the little prattler with a small piece of dough and some currants, and the rolling pin.

A Doughy Maid

Now what happy, busy little fingers, rolling the dough over and over again, while still chattering on. At least the Housewife could get on with her baking, for the industrious little maid had become absorbed in her task. Putting the currants in, then taking them out, squeezing the dough into various shapes. In her own little way she tried hard to make a really good cake.

The final effect was a triumph of perseverance, and she proudly displayed her handiwork to the amused Housewife.

The little maid had gone to a lot of trouble, but it would take a very fond eye to discover just what the final result was meant to be. However, with some diplomatic assistance from an older hand, a shape was formed that would at least be recognized when seen.

As I watched the busy fingers making patterns out of shapeless dough, making them so painstakingly, and then making them over again, I could not help thinking how people try to make a brave pattern out of their lives.

With what pride the start is made; how they try this way and that to get the best out of the material at hand. Trying alone! As the years go by the shape is altered many times until the would-be maker is forced to admit that the ultimate pattern is poor indeed.

Long centuries ago the word of God came to Jeremiah, the prophet, concerning the nations. He spoke of the potter's vessel being marred in the making, pointing out that it could be made over again into a vessel that was of use.

Marred lives, too, that have been broken because an inexperienced hand had been at work, can be finally made into something useful for God's glory, if there is a sincere acknowledgment of defeat, and a willingness to place the life in the sure hands of the master Potter. It is never too late to do so, for God can see, even in the most abject wreck, wondrous possibilities.

Your Dad

YOU know your dad as a big, big, man;

A marvelous being, almost like God—

A being built on a splendid plan;

Who holds the world at his beck and nod.

The happiest dream you ever dream

Is to be like him when you've older grown.

And you love to swagger and strut, and seem

To wield his power as though your own.

I know him as a big, big, boy—

A lovable fellow who clearly knows

You know your dad and I know him too.

He needs to be known as both of us know.

COMFORT IN TROUBLE

Is Found in God's Word

I TURNED up my Bible hastily; for I needed help and comfort. My eyes lighted on these words, "God is our Refuge and Strength, a very present Help in trouble." Then, glancing quickly down the page for another message, I read, "Be still, and know that I am God." A comforting calm came over me as other lovely verses I had long-through joy and sorrow. There are battles to be fought before we can experience the joy of victory won.

Every circumstance in life is God's opportunity for us to display His glory. Therefore, if the comfort of our Saviour in time of distress means so much to us, we must be like Him, and seek to bring comfort to others.

I am thinking now of those who bravely smile, yet need our comfort, and who struggle on very often with heavy hearts.

Father's Words

When I was a girl my dear father—now gone to his Reward—wrote these words in my book:

Comfort one another,
For the way is often dreary,
And the feet are often weary,
And the heart is very sad.
There is a heavy burden bearing
When it seems that none are caring,
And we half forget that we were ever glad.

Comfort one another,
With a hand-clasp close and tender,
With sweetness love can render,
And the looks of friendly eyes.
Do not wait with grace unspoken,
While life's daily bread is broken,
Gentle speech is oft like manna from the skies."

After he passed away, I had these lines framed, and they now stand just inside the lounge-room door, where I can see them daily. Often and often they have been read by those who visit our home, and untold blessing and comfort come to those who read them and see his signature.

There are those around us who need the comfort of a handshake, a "God bless you!" and the looks of friendly eyes. It does not cost anything to at least smile. "A smile is always worth its face value."

A Practical Religion

Strangely enough, when we seek to comfort others, the blessing reverts to ourselves. I read of a Captain who used to get up early to pray, and clean both his own and his Lieutenant's boots; God mightily blessed him.

If we strive to emulate the spirit of our Lord and Master, our eyes must be in every place, seeking opportunities to bring comfort and good; and our hands and feet will be ready to help those who need our help.

Helpful Hints

KNOW YOUR ONIONS

TO fry onions quickly. Slice finely and put in a frying pan, add a little fat and cover with water. Boil until water has evaporated, reduce heat and fry until brown. The onions will be a golden brown and tender in a very few minutes.

If you like your boiled onions with a mild mellow flavor, place the peeled onions in a saucepan of water, bring to a boil and drain. Then add a fresh lot of water and boil in the usual way until tender.

A little dry mustard rubbed on the fingers after peeling onions will help get rid of the onion smell.

Onions for storing should be full grown and ripe, being firm and well shaped, with neck and roots quite dry. Dark-skinned onions are often the best keepers.

If you find it difficult to cut present-day bread thinly, try dipping your knife in boiling water between each slice; it makes it much easier to cut thinly.

SAVE SNAGS—

YOU can save clothes from becoming snagged on the loose or rough ends of a wicker clothes basket by making a muslin or white cotton lining for the basket. Attach it with a draw string. And when it becomes soiled it may be removed and laundered, then put back in again.

since memorized flooded into my mind. I realized as I had never realized before, that God was my Father and Comforter. My faith in Him had secured the anchor.

I remembered that I had a very precious autograph album, and I opened up the pages, again seeking comfort, and read this message from

The worship that comes from the heart of you
Makes all that is best in him glow and grow.

This knowledge of mine, as men know men,

That allows for failings we all deplore,
Will encourage him always to try again
That he may deserve your worship, more.

(Sunday, June 19 is Father's Day)

a very dear friend—thank God for good friends!

"When the anchor that faith has cast,
Is dragging in the gale,
I am quietly holding fast
To the things that cannot fail."

The Things That Cannot Fail

Christ Himself suffered and was tempted in many ways, but He found comfort in the Father, and now, having received that comfort from Him, His Spirit lives in our hearts. He constantly gives, and asks us to "Be still, and know that I am God." We find then that we are "quietly holding fast to the things that cannot fail."

These things are our faith, the comfort of prayer, our renewed strength and grace, and our utter desire to follow the example of our Master.

ST. CLAIR RIVER CORPS VISITED

Citizens' Rally Addressed by The Chief Secretary

MEETINGS led by Colonel and Mrs. W. Dray at Sarnia, Ont., (Sr. Captain and Mrs. J. Sloan) proved outstanding events in the history of the corps.

The week-end commenced with a rousing open-air meeting and march, during which Color Sergeant J. Maundrell, who is seventy-eight years of age, proudly carried the Flag, and led the comrades back to the hall for the welcome to the visitors.

Lieut.-Colonel L. Ursaki, Divisional Commander, led a free-and-easy meeting, in which, Corps Treasurer G. Bissell spoke words of welcome, and Brigadier J. Ward, of Port Huron, Mich., gave an international touch, voicing his joy in seeing his comrade officer, of some thirty-five years ago, when they both served in Western Ontario.

The band and songster brigade gave support, and Sisters Yearsley and Rowe sang a duet. Home League Secretary Mrs. Bissell and her helpers supplied refreshments in the lower hall, when all had an opportunity of meeting the visitors.

Sunday morning the comrades again gathered for an open-air meeting led by Major T. Jennings. God drew near in the holiness meeting. Following the singing of the consecration song, "None of self and all of Thee," by Songster Leader W. Wren, both visitors gave helpful messages.

The citizens' rally in the afternoon drew a goodly number of prominent citizens, when Mr. G. Parker, a warm friend of the Army presided. Mayor W. Nelson brought greetings, and Rev. D. MacRae read from the Scriptures. Colonel Dray gave an earnest address, Songster R. Smith soloed, and Major T. Jennings attended to the courtesies.

A large crowd gathered for the salvation meeting, in which the band and songster brigade again took part, and the visitors gave of their best, reminding all present of the necessity of getting right with God. During the well-fought prayer meeting five seekers were registered, and the day closed with the chorus, "Give to Jesus Glory."

At Earls court

The visit of the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel W. Dray to Earls-court Citadel was a memorable one, and the Citadel was packed for both morning and evening meetings. The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier E. Green supported the Colonel, while the band and songster brigade and the male chorus contributed to the spirit of the meeting. In the morning meeting, the Colonel gave an earnest address, and the meeting closed on a note of re-consecration as the audience sang a dedication chorus.

Sunday afternoon, in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, the band provided the music for the thirty-fifth memorial service of the sinking of the "Empress of Ireland," when so many Salvationists lost their lives on the ill-fated ship. The band played "The Atonement," the last

PRINTING SECRETARY AND PUBLISHER

Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. H. G. Carter Retire From Active Service

TO have spent several years as the overseer of a busy printing plant whose presses are constantly turning out large quantities of reading and other matter, is no mean achievement, for few branches of a great organization such as The Army are more necessary to its progress. But Lieut.-Colonel Carter, shortly to retire from the ranks of active officership, has also to his credit useful years spent in other capacities; for an Army officer often has to be "a man of many parts."

Born in London, England, Herbert George Carter came to the land of opportunity, Canada, as a young man and settled in Nova Scotia where he entered the employ of a large lumber and wood-pulp concern. His conversion took place when alone in his room at the hotel where he stayed and some months later he moved to Saint John where he linked on with The Army and became a soldier of Fairville Corps from which centre he entered the old Sherbourne Training College, Toronto.

Promoted to Cadet Sergeant-Major he served a term in the College and later as Captain was appointed to Swansea in suburban Toronto; Hamilton 3 followed and periods of service were spent in the Finance Department, Territorial Headquarters and Immigration work. While engaged in the latter he travelled extensively throughout Canada and visited England several times in the interests of Emigration which at that time was at its peak. In connection with the Empress of Ireland disaster he had charge of the first party of relatives which travelled from Toronto to Quebec to identify the dead.

On the formation of the old Canada West Territory in 1915 he was promoted Ensign and appointed Assistant to the Chief Secretary. His duties were many and varied, and included supplying the Canada East War Cry with four pages of Western news weekly and one frontispiece a month. A period as Trade Secretary followed and when Canada West War Cry was inaugurated

A well-known friend of the Army in Winnipeg and outstanding Bible Class Leader, Miss Savaker, recently passed to her reward at an advanced age. For many years she was a resident at the Army's Sunset Lodge, Kildonan, where Majors Geatrix and Parsons and other officers ministered to her needs. Scores of Salvationists and friends readily acknowledge blessings received through the activities of this saintly and refined Christian worker.

Mention was also made of the sister of Brigadier E. Green, who was a soldier at Earls court at the same time, also the father and mother of the Brigadier who both lost their lives in the disaster.

TERRITORIAL BAND INSPECTOR'S NOTES

By Deputy-Bandmaster P. Merritt

THE month of May seemed to be taken up entirely with special events. First it was the Spring Festival—not only the event itself but the various rehearsals with the trombone ensemble also the final practice with Sir Ernest MacMillan. This latter event was perhaps as inspiring to the bandmen as the festival itself, as we saw Sir Ernest in action in his shirt-sleeves. We think we work hard ourselves, but this master-musician is a trojan in action.

The week-end of May 14-15 Mrs. Merritt and I spent in Montreal (Major P. Lindores). The band was in good form that week-end and all meetings were well attended, both indoors and out. There is a real esprit de corps with this band. Special Efforts Secretary G. Fisher was well repaid for all the work he and others put in, by the response to invitations sent out to all former bandmen as far back as forty years. Many attended the meetings, driving from as far as Toronto and Oshawa to be present. This was truly a band re-union and could well be repeated in other corps. Bandmaster N. Audouire is in touch with all things musical in the metropolis.

May 21-22 I was privileged to represent Canadian bandmen at the Chicago Music Congress. Two days jammed with music, many delegates driving as far as 500 miles to be present. An inspiring time. Programs of three hours duration, but all interesting. Some excellent playing and singing, included in the vocal being our own North Toronto Songsters, who acquitted themselves well. Commissioner N. Marshall, Colonel R. Hoggard, 2nd Lieutenant host of others were very kind to us, and I was able to give our American comrades your greetings on Sunday morning in the Chicago Temple, when I was asked to speak.

May 28-29 was spent in the ever-expanding city of Kitchener. Dovercourt Band gave a program in the Collegiate, Saturday night, and I stayed over to do the Sunday meetings. Kitchener Band (Bandmaster W. Gallagher) is doing well indeed. They have a great opportunity in this musical district and are taking advantage of it. Among the items played were "The Hill of Calvary" and "Happy Memories" selections, and "Dovercourt Citadel" and "Scarborough Citadel" marches. The evening meeting was broad-

BERMUDA'S BAND AND SONGSTERS

ON Friday night the bands and songsters of Bermuda met, with former musical comrades, for an excellent time of fellowship and counsel. The Divisional Commander, Sr. Major G. Hartas, led in the singing of "Make the World with Music Ring." Prayer was offered, and in this unique gathering, the first of its kind for many years, papers were given by Captain T. Bell, of Southampton, on "Metres," Songster Leader L. Simmons of Hamilton, on "The Qualities of a Brigade," and Sr. Major M. Beaumont on "The Blessing that a Brigade can Be."

In his spiritual counsel Sr. Major Hartas urged those present to put first things first. In the closing moments of the meeting three comrades knelt at the Mercy-Seat in rededication to Christ.

Captain J. Crozier, of Hamilton and A. Rice, of St. George's took part, as well as 2nd Lieutenant E. McCrea, of Somerset. Refreshments were served by some of the women comrades.

MISSIONARY WEEK-END

Stirs Interest in the Work in Other Lands

SOME years ago a group of Salvationists (mostly officers employed at the various headquarters in Toronto) banded themselves together and formed a missionary group, with the object of taking a personal interest in Salvation Army Canadian missionaries leaving for overseas, or returning on furlough, or in sending parcels to those in the field. At a recent meeting of this group the idea of a Missionary Week-end was proposed, and Sunday and Monday saw the fulfillment of this plan.

Sr. Captain and Mrs. L. Pindred, Corps Officers of Toronto Temple, put the hall at the disposal of the group, and inspiring meetings were held. The sight of the colorful native garb of some of the participants attracted people to the hall, especially when they took part in a march, headed by the Temple Band, through the streets of downtown Toronto. This was at night, when the march linked up with the young comrades holding an open-air meeting in "China-town," and marched them back to the hall. Captain Pindred had arranged for a great map of the world to be displayed, with flags indicating the whereabouts of Canadian missionaries.

In the morning, following a well-attended and vigorous outdoor meeting, Sr. Major H. Wood led a helpful holiness gathering, several officers who have seen service in other lands taking part. Brigadier A. Fairhurst read the "honor roll"—the list of some seventy Canadian officers who are at present scattered throughout the world on missionary work, and Mrs. Major S. Williams offered prayer, especially mentioning those in the "danger areas" of China.

Major A. Voisey related stories of God's saving grace in Nigeria, and Brigadier E. Betts read from the Scriptures. Captain W. Deering took part, and in addition also visited the children in their afternoon meeting, speaking to them of the mission field. Major L. Russell gave an effective talk on "Witnessing."

At night, Colonel and Mrs. F. Ham, (the Colonel was Territorial Commander in the West Indies and Central America Territory) led an uplifting meeting, working in many returned missionary officers. Mrs. Major J. Wells told a gripping story of the conversion of a Chinese woman, who had found no help from her worship of Buddha. The altar service—at which a thousand dollars was the aim—took place, and the Corps Officer was able to announce later in the meeting that the target was in sight.

The Colonel gave an earnest address on God's love to the nations of the world—and to the individual and, after an intensive prayer-meeting, a man who had been a Christian worker years before, surrendered. He gave a glowing testimony, urging comrades to pray for him.

On the Monday night, the Chief Secretary presided over a missionary demonstration and program given at the Temple, when sons of missionaries at present in Toronto formed a band, and played acceptable numbers, and daughters of missionaries sang "To the ends of the earth we will go." Scenes from India and China were brought vividly to the minds of those present, the first by means of actual persons dressed the part, and the second by means of slides. The five African Territories were represented by means of intriguing statistics.

The Colonel, near the end of the meeting, called to the platform the sons and daughters of missionaries, most of whom had been born in other lands, spoke of their parents' devotion to duty, and urged them to let God have His way in their lives, even if it meant following their parents' footsteps in regard to overseas service.

"You may have your plans for life," he said, "but God sometimes has other plans for us; only by going His way will peace and usefulness be assured." He called on Sr. Captain Pindred to pray God's blessing on the young people, and the Doxology then concluded a hallowed week-end.

Perhaps the big fellows could give a hand where the small band must fulfill an engagement. Then of course the Bandmaster must have a vacation, and this is where the Deputy steps in. Have you been giving him a chance Mr. Bandmaster, in some of the practices to lead the band? If not, better break the ice now, don't leave it until the week before the engagement. This practical work will bring results. Of course, Mr. Deputy, you must also prepare yourself so that when the opportunity comes you will not be all "nerves." Some bands may not

In 1921 he married Captain Catherine Ramsdale and some ten months later the future head of the Printing Department in Toronto was transferred to the Editorial Department, International Headquarters, London, and appointed Editor of the old Bandman and Songster, now known as The Musician; then came the editorship of The War Cry in South Africa. While in the Union, Major Carter visited many places of interest, including one in company with the Commissioner of the Territory to General Jan Smuts' farm some twenty miles from Pretoria, where the then Premier and Mrs. Smuts entertained them most graciously. During the South African war this farm was headquarters of the British Imperial staff and what was then the dining room is now the General's library.

Most of his seven years sojourn in the sub-Continent was spent at the Territorial centre, Johannesburg, where The War Cry was then printed, but when it was decided that The War Cry should be printed as formerly on The Army's Press at Cape Town he was transferred to the Mother City. In 1932 Brigadier and Mrs. Carter returned to the Land of the Maple, the Brigadier being appointed Assistant Printing Secretary, and seven years later succeeded Colonel Attwell as Printing and Publishing Secretary.

Few Salvationists, and probably only those engaged in the printing and publishing business (for the Colonel for the past ten years has been both printing manager and publisher) have any realization of the problems, technical and otherwise, involved in the publication business, and these, since the close of the war have, if anything, been accentuated by post-war conditions. In this connection it may be recalled that due to paper shortages, strikes and pending strikes and other causes more than a few outside periodicals suspended publication and some were forced entirely out of business; but the Colonel and his staff stuck grimly to their tasks and though handicapped in many ways, produced the periodicals on schedule.

TERRITORIAL BAND INSPECTOR'S NOTES

By Deputy-Bandmaster P. Merritt

THE month of May seemed to be taken up entirely with special events. First it was the Spring Festival—not only the event itself but the various rehearsals with the trombone ensemble also the final practice with Sir Ernest Mac-Millan. This latter event was perhaps as inspiring to the bandmen as the festival itself, as we saw Sir Ernest in action in his shirt-sleeves. We think we work hard ourselves, but this master-musician is a trojan in action.

The week-end of May 14-15 Mrs. Merritt and I spent in Montreal (Major P. Lindores). The band was in good form that week-end and all meetings were well attended, both indoors and out. There is a real esprit de corps with this band. Special Efforts Secretary G. Fisher was well repaid for all the work he and others put in, by the response to invitations sent out to all former bandmen as far back as forty years. Many attended the meetings, driving from as far as Toronto and Oshawa to be present. This was truly a band re-union and could well be repeated in other corps. Bandmaster N. Audoire is in touch with all things musical in the metropolis.

May 21-22 I was privileged to represent Canadian bandmen at the Chicago Music Congress. Two days jammed with music, many delegates driving as far as 500 miles to be present. An inspiring time. Programs of three hours duration, but all interesting. Some excellent playing and singing, included in the vocal being our own North Toronto Songsters, who acquitted themselves well. Commissioner N. Marshall, Colonel R. Hoggard, 2nd Lieutenant host of others were very kind to us, and I was able to give our American comrades your greetings on Sunday morning in the Chicago Temple, when I was asked to speak.

May 28-29 was spent in the ever-expanding city of Kitchener. Dovercourt Band gave a program in the Collegiate Saturday night, and I stayed over to do the Sunday meetings. Kitchener Band (Bandmaster W. Gallagher) is doing well indeed. They have a great opportunity in this musical district and are taking advantage of it. Among the items played were "The Hill of Calvary" and "Happy Memories" selections, and "Dovercourt Citadel" and "Scarborough Citadel" marches. The evening meeting was broad-

BERMUDA'S BAND AND SONGSTERS

ON Friday night the bands and songsters of Bermuda met, with former musical comrades, for an excellent time of fellowship and counsel. The Divisional Commander, Sr. Major G. Hartas, led in the singing of "Make the World with Music Ring." Prayer was offered, and in this unique gathering, the first of its kind for many years, papers were given by Captain T. Bell, of Southampton, on "Metres," Songster Leader L. Simmons of Hamilton, on "The Qualities of a Brigade," and Sr. Major M. Beaumont on "The Blessing that a Brigade can Be."

In his spiritual counsel Sr. Major Hartas urged those present to put first things first. In the closing moments of the meeting three comrades knelt at the Mercy-Seat in rededication to Christ.

Captain J. Crozier, of Hamilton and A. Rice, of St. George's took part, as well as 2nd Lieutenant E. McCrea, of Somerset. Refreshments were served by some of the women comrades.

We can make sure here and now that these things will not be found in us whenever He does return. So, if we have not yet given ourselves fully to God and allowed Him to control our lives, yea even our very thoughts, we can and should do so now. He has made all provisions for us, and if we reject them instead of hearing Him say, "Come ye blessed" we shall hear Him say, "Depart from me ye that work iniquity." May God bless and help each of us to accept that which He has provided for us, and be found worthy to enter into the place He has prepared for us.

EFFECTIVE METHODS IN PARK

In Spreading the Message in Open-Air Activities

Parrsboro, N.S., (2nd Lieutenant and Mrs. T. Rose) held a profitable and enjoyable week-end with Major and Mrs. B. Dumerton in charge.

A huge crowd gathered Saturday evening to listen to the open-air meeting.

Sunday morning the visitors called at South Sunderland Memorial Hospital, holding an open-air meeting on the grounds, thus cheering and blessing the patients. Major Dumerton turned the thoughts of those gathered for the holiness meeting Sunday morning to the work of the Holy Spirit. Two sons of the Major accompanied their father to the company meeting and their musical numbers were greatly enjoyed by the children.

At three o'clock, on the local band stand in the park, an hour's meeting was held. A public address system was used in sending forth the message in music, song and Scripture reading, and it was heard far and wide over the little town. Chorus sheets were distributed among the people around, who entered heartily into the singing.

Sunday night nearly a hundred people heard again the Old Story. The power of God was felt and people were convicted of sin.

New Flags Dedicated

Park Extension Corps, Montreal, (Major and Mrs. R. Butler) held successful thirty-fourth anniversary meetings. Sunday evening the hall was packed and a number of the older members and comrades of the corps were present, some coming from a distance for the occasion.

While the old Army Flag was being lowered, the new one was raised and the Army salute. Candidate I. McNeilly sang an appropriate solo during the ceremony.

Next came the most notable and sacred event of the evening, the dedication of the new Army Flag and a new Union Jack.

Several commissions were given out. The young people's work is rapidly progressing.

Home League week was a notable event, Thursday's social and festival being of blessing. Sr. Major A. Uden presiding. An enjoyable evening ensued. New members are joining the Home League.

Outdoor Efforts Prove An Attraction

At Woodstock, N.B., (Captain and Mrs. J. Amos) the Divisional Commander and Mrs. A. Dixon conducted the week-end meetings. "Open-house" was arranged for Saturday afternoon, with refreshments served to the many who called to inspect the fine new hall. The wife of the Mayor, and Mrs. Dixon, poured tea, serving over one hundred friends.

Saturday night an open-air meeting was held on the main street, attracting farmers and town people. Indoors, two films, "Stephen" and a beautiful sermon from the Psalms, "Templed Hills," were shown.

HELPFUL TEN-DAY CAMPAIGN

At Amherst, N.S., Corps (Major I. Spicer, Captain L. Hansen) a special ten-day series of meetings conducted by Major J. Heard (R) of U.S.A. Eastern Territory has drawn to a close.

Meetings were held every night, and attendances were encouraging. Several consecrations were made, and many sought the blessing of a clean heart. Open-air gatherings were held; those unable to attend the indoor meetings were visited in their homes.

Delegates came from Bridgetown, Digby, Kentville and Liverpool and Shelburne, and nearly one hundred women sat down to supper. The evening meeting took the form of a program, in which all the leagues took part. An "apron parade" and special music were included. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Territorial banner and the Divisional banner to the Kentville Home League (Mrs. Lieutenant G. Clarke), the largest attendance for the "under fifty" in Canada during 1948.

Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Carruthers and Brigadier Fairhurst commended the league on its interest and hard work during the past year.

OPEN-AIR MEETING ATTRACTS

The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel W. Carruthers spent a busy week-end at Pictou, N.S. An interested crowd listened to the open-air meeting Saturday evening. Sunday morning the comrades turned out to the holiness meeting on daylight saving time!

In the afternoon the Colonel spoke to the children in the company meeting, and then led a service in the county jail.

In the evening meeting Mrs. Carruthers spoke of the work of the Home League, seeing this was Home League Sunday. In the prayer meeting one soul surrendered. Lieutenant E. Ingleby and Lieutenant K. Burns are working hard for the Kingdom here.

Goderich Leaguers Active

Many were the blessings received by the leaguers during Home League week at Goderich, Ont., (Captain G. Dunstan and Lieutenant H. Ingleby). The week was packed full of activities, and the women were kept busy visiting the local hospital, also "shut-ins." Then there was a visit to the Huron County Home, in Clinton.

War Crys were delivered, a visit to the jail was made and special services were held, speakers being Sister E. McArthur of London, Rev. G. Medley, and Rev. A. Allen of Goderich.

Ten days later the members gathered to celebrate the 42nd anniversary of the Home League. A three-tier cake being cut.

Revisits An Early Charge

Lieut.-Colonel W. Putt, Editor of The War Cry, visited Hillhurst Corps, Calgary, (Major and Mrs. E. Nesbitt) and conducted the holiness meeting. Thirty years ago the Colonel opened the Hall. A number of the older comrades were delighted to see him again and many enjoyed his message.

Recently two senior and two junior soldiers were enrolled.

Major M. Young, who has soldiered at Hillhurst for some time, and has farewelled for Ottawa, Ont., was thanked for her interest in the corps.

The Self-Denial altar service was conducted by Sr. Captain A. Williams, who spent eight years in India. The Captain wore her Indian uniform, which gave a missionary touch to the service. A record amount was given.

OH, HOW HAPPY ARE THEY

(An Acceptable Solo)

Tune: "Old Kentucky Home"

O H, how happy are they who the Saviour obey,
And have laid up their treasures above;
Tongue can never express the sweet comfort and peace
Of a soul filled with Jesus' love.

Chorus:

Oh, what joy to love Him;
To know that He is mine!
All along life's way, He is walking by my side,
And I feel His blessed power divine.

That sweet comfort is mine; now the favor divine
I've received through the Blood of the Lamb.

With my heart I believe, and what joy I receive,
What a heaven in Jesus' name!

'Tis a heaven below my Redeemer to know,
And the angels can do nothing more
Than fall at His feet, and the story repeat,
And the Lover of sinners adore.

Jesus all the day long is my Sun and my Song;

Oh, that all His salvation might see!
He doth love me, I cry; He did suffer and die,
To redeem such a rebel as me.

Oh, the rapturous height of the holy delight

Which I feel in the life-giving Blood!
Of my Saviour possess, I am perfectly blest,
As if filled with the heaven of God.
